Quinn Jackson is a New York based artist who has sat on the board of the NPC since 2018.

"As a writer and actor it gives me great pleasure to support the Neo Political Cowgirls in their mission to empower the female perspective and create evocative, important and diverse WORK.

I hope the words written in these plays and those spoken in the talk back sessions will resonate and inspire others to speak their truths and come into their own POWER.

The world is in a state of immense growth and our hope is that art can help to push the needle on change forward."

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

NEO-POLITICAL COWGIRLS
EXPECT THE UNEXPECTED

Welcome to The Neo-Political Cowgirls' 4th Annual Andromeda's Sisters Arts and Advocacy Forum. This year, clearly, is rather different from our usual beautiful, bustling gatherings together, but we are so fortunate to continue to find ways to connect and come together for art, for conversations, for inspiration and activation into advocacy.

Many of us are feeling so very "zoomed out," but we keep at it anyway. We must. It is imperative to our humanity, our communities and our world, that we show up with curiosity and hearts in hand. In a world of overwhelm, finding one another mid-struggle is everything crucial to our moving forward in hope.

The women we are honored to present tonight as part of Andromeda's Sisters are ferocious fighters, brave visionaries, and determined leaders for change. We share their powerfully tireless work with you so that you might gain insight to their daily efforts, learn about their organizations, perhaps feel inspired to join their causes, and to create a meeting space where we join together in the spirit of solutions, idea-sharing and collaborative engagement.

Most of all, we hold this forum to allow for courage to become contagious. Leo Rosten said "Courage is the capacity to confront what can be imagined." We here at The Neo-Political Cowgirls believe that imagination and creativity directly serve to ignite courageousness. And this courage empowers the strength of heart to look out onto the global landscape where sorrow, danger and injustice tower to imagine in its place the possibility for thriving humanity, joy, and justice for all. And out of this imagining, we join to begin that work to build our vision.

Thank you so very much for being here with us. The courage of tonight's guests is palpable and we are confident you will leave this gathering ignited to look over your own landscape to envision what you, too, want to build.

ROBERTA KAPLAN (Partner, Kaplan Hecker & Fink, LLP)

Roberta (“Robbie”) Kaplan is the founding partner at Kaplan Hecker & Fink LLP. A formidable litigator with decades of experience in both commercial and civil rights litigation. She is perhaps best known for representing Edith Windsor in the landmark case, United States v. Windsor, in which the Supreme Court held that a key provision of the Defense of Marriage Act was unconstitutional -- landing the first major victory in the battle for marriage equality. Robbie is now partnering with Integrity First for America to sue the two dozen neo-Nazis, white supremacists, and hate groups responsible for the violence that took place in Charlottesville in August 2017. Trial is scheduled for October 2020.

In addition to working with clients like Columbia University, Airbnb, Uber, Vice Media, and T-Mobile, Robbie helped to launch the Times Up Legal Defense Fund to provide legal representation to women who have experienced sexual harassment. Robbie is the author of “Then Comes Marriage: United States v. Windsor and the Defeat of DOMA” (W.W. Norton 2015), chosen by the L.A. Times and Ms. Magazine as one of the top 10 books of 2015. Although Robbie has received numerous awards, including the New York Law Journal Lifetime Achievement Award and the Columbia Law School Medal of Excellence, she is probably most proud of receiving an honorary doctorate from the Jewish Theological Seminary.

DAHLIA LITHWICK is a senior editor at Slate, and in that capacity, has been writing their "Supreme Court Dispatches" and "Jurisprudence" columns since 1999. Her work has appeared in the New York Times, Harper's, The New Yorker, The Washington Post, The New Republic, and Commentary, among other places. She is host of Amicus, Slate's award-winning biweekly podcast about the law and the Supreme Court. In 2018 Lithwick received the American Constitution Society's Progressive Champion Award, and the Hillman Prize for Opinion and Analysis. Lithwick won a 2013 National Magazine Award for her columns on the Affordable Care Act. She has been twice awarded an Online Journalism Award for her legal commentary. She was inducted into the American Academy of Arts and Sciences in October of 2018. Lithwick earned her BA in English from Yale University and her JD degree from Stanford University. She is currently working on a new book, Lady Justice, for Penguin Press.

AMY SPITALNICK (Executive Director, Integrity First for America)

Amy Spitalnick is the Executive Director of Integrity First for America, a nonpartisan nonprofit organization dedicated to holding those accountable who threaten longstanding principles of our democracy—including our country's commitment to civil rights and equal justice. IFA is backing Sines v. Kessler, the landmark federal lawsuit filed by a coalition of Charlottesville community members against the neo-Nazis, white supremacists, and hate groups responsible for the August 2017 violence. Amy joins IFA with extensive experience in government, politics, and advocacy. She previously served as Communications Director and Senior Policy Advisor to the New York Attorney General;

Communications Advisor and Spokesperson for the New York City Mayor; and Communications Director in the New York State Senate. She has also worked on a number of federal, state, and local campaigns and advocacy organizations. Amy is a Truman National Security Project Partner; a New Leaders Council faculty member, providing media and communications trainings to activists around the country; a former Women in Power Fellow at the 92nd Street Y; and the 2008 Dutko Fellow for Policy and Public Service. In 2013, she was named a City & State 40 Under 40 Rising Star. She graduated from Tufts University.
